The O'Bryan Family

The story of O'Bryan's Nine Irish Bros. begins 30 years ago, when the founder and principal owner, Jerry O'Bryan, opened the Hairman, a local styling salon that has since become a campus icon. Jerry told his wife, Jan, that if the hair business didn't work out, he wanted to open an Irish pub. The hair business did end up working out, but thirty years, two children, and a grandchild later, Jerry finally decided it was time to realize his dream, an Authentic Irish pub serving traditional Irish fare, Guinness by the pint, and featuring live music.

This is also the port where the ill-fated Titanic departed on its first and last voyage.

*Just a short distance from Cobh we will go to Middleton and the Jameson Whisky Distiller where you will see the "water of life" being made. After an included lunch at Jameson
